

Unpredictable existence...

Dr. Sri. Pa. Dhevarajan,
PG & Research Dept. of English,
Govt. Arts College, Salem-07,
Tamilnadu, India.

Life is a spark between birth and death.

Living is unpredictable uncertainty.

Nothing in the world is either created or

Destroyed: rather deformed or rejuvenated.

Every living being has its unique sensation.

Feelings and sensations born and grow with us.

It sustains, survives till our last breath.

Breathing is something different from living.

Birth and death is just incoming and outgoing.

Birth is given by parents; death is witnessed

By others; in between why do we need arrogance?

Nothing can be carried after death except our own 'Karma'.

Soil or fire is our last shelter. No one could accompany.

We born alone and die alone; anyone may help but Cannot live our life. Live on your own, enjoy every Moment. Life has no re-play chance; choice of Life is unpredictable. Once passed means over forever.

One cannot pause anything in life; breathing, thinking,

Eating, chatting etc. One can manage but cannot maintain.

Next minute is not yours. Expand your love and affection

Beyond personal limits. Take care of your health: trials

Start with your organs; no spare parts available to our body.

Don't search the 'Supreme' up and out. It resides within you.

Try to realize It. Be happy. Don't dump worries in your mind.

Heal your negatives; fertilize your positives because realizing life is

A gift. Knowing thyself is essential and inevitable eligibility of life.
